Cops for Kids ride marks 9th tour

The Winnipeg Police Service will mark their ninth biannual Cops for Kids Bicycle Relay team tour with a trip to Florida.

This year the team, made up of five female and 15 male members of the WPS, will be cycling 4,200 kilometres to Key West. Called the Quest for the Key, the relay team hits the road 24 hours a day for seven straight days until they reach their destination.

This year's goal is for the team to reach $50,000 in donations, which will benefit the Children's Wish Foundation.

Over the past 15 years, the team has raised more than $400,000 for the foundation.

Playground perks up park

◗ Designed to be a year-round 'wonderland' ◗ Recycled trees, shoes used in construction

JAMES TURNER
@METRONEWS.CA

The long weekend just got a whole lot more fun for Winnipeg kids.

Today, the gates of what's been dubbed the Nature Playground at Assiniboine Park swing wide open for the general public — one day after more than 100 children got a sneak preview of the sights, slides and activity-based secrets it offers up.

It's not your average playground, either.

Tree forts, net bridges, slides and tunnels only scratch the surface of what's on offer at the four-acre site. The structures are wedged in between massive garden beds of immaculately-planted flowers.

Park and city officials suggested they hope visits to the playground leave lasting and happy impressions of the park on impressionable young Winnipeggers.

"It's home to memories for all of us, in one way or another … we all have wonderful memories of Assiniboine Park," said Hartley Richardson, chair of the Assiniboine Park Conservancy.

"I'm so proud this dream is a reality"
MAYOR SAM KATZ

Mayor Sam Katz called the playground "a signature piece" of a revamp of some of the park's major attractions. About $60 million — or 30 per cent of the cost of the $200 million park redevelopment plan — has been reached.

"Just over a year ago … this was nothing more than a concept," Katz said.

The playground is open from 8 a.m. to dusk daily.

Sad music for crash victim

Out-of-control vehicle hurtles through two fences and a concrete wall Medical condition suspected

ELISHA DACEY
@METRONEWS.CA

A man is in critical condition in hospital after crashing his minivan into a store on Thursday.

The accident took place just after 8 a.m., when the driver lost control of his vehicle on Taylor Avenue near Stafford Street.

The van barrelled through a chain-link fence, then a low, wooden parking-lot fence and on through the parking lot, where it crashed into the Long & McQuade music store. The impact left a gaping hole in a cinderblock wall.

Const. Rob Carver, spokesperson for the Winnipeg Police Service, said police are still investigating, but they are looking at the possibility the crash happened because of a medical condition.

The store was closed at the time of the crash. No one else was injured.

Another arrest in pizza parlour slaying

Winnipeg police have made a second arrest in the death of Gerald Crayford.

Crayford, 54, was working at the Pizza Hotline on Concordia Avenue on Sunday when he was confronted by a pair of thieves wielding a weapon. Despite offering no resistance, Crayford was beaten to death, police say.

Police would not confirm the type of weapon used, or if the thieves managed to steal any money from the cash register. They would not say whether there were customers in the store at the time of the attack.

Sheegl gets nod for top city boss

Phil Sheegl is set to become the City of Winnipeg's senior civil servant after winning the unanimous endorsement of Mayor Sam Katz's cabinet.

Sheegl beat out more than 40 candidates from six provinces for the position of chief administrative officer, which must still go through a vote by council.

Sheegl, a longtime friend of the mayor's, started work with the city in 2008 as the head of property, planning and development, but has served as a deputy CAO for more than two years.

"The mayor has stated that crime prevention is one of his priorities. Infrastructure, obviously, is a huge priority as well," he said.

University of Manitoba officials were forced to send out an alert to all staff and students after a staff member's water bottle was tampered with last week.

Police weren't confirming exactly what substance wound up in the staffer's bottle at the Bannatyne Campus, but media reports said staff confirmed the water was discoloured. Police called the substance "noxious."

Police said Thursday it appears the tampering was a deliberate act. Staff and students have been warned not to leave their food and drink unattended.

Minister proposes massive changes to Liquor Control Act

ELISHA DACEY/FOR METRO

▶ Minister Gord Mackintosh makes the announcement at The Forks Thursday.

Soon you'll be able to get your liquor easier and later.

Consumer Affairs Minister Gord Mackintosh announced more than three dozen changes to Manitoba's Liquor Control Act Thursday, and it means Manitobans could soon see liquor on their grocery-stores' shelves and stay later at their friends' socials.

"This is the 'social' province," said Mackintosh, later apologizing for the pun.

"We want to encourage that."

The new strategy was backed by Mothers Against Drunk Driving CEO Andrew Murie, who said the province is on the right track by making alcohol more available in a controlled way with "highly trained staff."

He also praised a plan that would strengthen fines for those who are caught with fake IDs and criminalize providing fake IDs to minors.

Doug Stephen, president of WOW Hospitality Concepts, was cautiously optimistic, although he took a few pot shots at the new strategy of allowing customers to bring their own wine to restaurants that choose to offer that service.

Mackintosh said he feels the clarification of rules that make liquor vendors more responsible for what happens outside their doors means safer communities for residents.

He also said the new rules strike a good balance.

"We have some very serious concerns about underage drinking in this province.... New hospitality services, yes, but not at the expense of public safety.

"In fact, what's in (the new recommendations) is a crackdown."

ELISHA DACEY

Changes

Proposed changes to Manitoba's Liquor Control Act

1. Allowing for the concept of a brew pub.
2. Ten new express boutique-style stores in high-traffic areas (like the airport) with five of those in grocery stores as a pilot project.
3. Allowing patrons to bring their own wine to restaurants that allow the service.

All pals together (but just wait till question period)

Rookie MPs bask in camaraderie as they tour Parliament Buildings

They were warned about the perils of life in Parliament — the stress on their marriages, the strain on their health, the long hours, the tricky business of hiring the right staff.

But rookie MPs attending their freshman orientation session Thursday also got a glimpse of the camaraderie life on the benches breeds.

"In that room, no one had the logo Conservative, or Green or Liberal or what not, so it's just interesting to be with a great bunch of people for the 41st Parliament," said Dan Albas, a B.C. Tory.

"I think that the part that struck me the most is that we're all there to work together and find those common lines, because we have to work for the people of Canada and make sure their priorities are coming first and I think that's something all of us want to contribute."

"Ever since I ran for class president in Grade 6, it has been something that I've been working towards."

Bob Rae offers to be Liberals' interim leader

Bob Rae is shelving his long-term leadership ambitions to become interim leader of the devastated federal Liberal party.

The Toronto MP wrote his caucus colleagues Thursday to advise he's willing to let his name stand for the position of interim leader.

And he acknowledged that means he'll have to give up thoughts of one day running to become the permanent successor to Michael Ignatieff, who resigned after leading the party to a historic defeat in the May 2 election.

"I shall abide by any rules about the interim leadership, agreed to by the caucus and by the (the party's) board (of directors)," he says in his letter.

"I have made it a watchword of my time in public life to practise the politics of unity and principled compromise. I shall continue to do so."

ADRIAN WYLD/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Bob Rae, 62, is a former NDP premier of Ontario.

The party's directors have the authority to appoint an interim leader, based on the recommendation of the parliamentary caucus — which appears to overwhelmingly favour Rae.

The board said last week the interim leader must be bilingual and must promise not to seek the permanent leadership or engage in discussions about a possible merger with the NDP.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

One condition

- In his letter to caucus members, Bob Rae laid down a condition of his own. He said he's only interested in being interim leader if the vote for permanent leader is put off for 18 to 24 months.
- A broad consensus has emerged in favour of a leadership vote in the fall of 2012.

HAROLD CAMPING A PROPHET?

In Camping's book1994? he discovered an important end date for this world. However, because God had not finished revealing all the truths of the timeline in the Bible, Mr. Camping misunderstood the significance of that end date against the language in Matthew 24:22 "Except those days be shortened there should no flesh be saved ". This language led him to believe God was speaking of the end of the world. The only correction to Mr. Camping's work in the book 1994? is that this language "those days be shortened" was pointing to the all important end of the first half of The Great Tribulation. The significance is; The first half was a period when virtually no one was being saved. It wasn't until the second half of The Great Tribulation (Which we are at the end of now) when God started the ingathering that He describes as "The latter rain" where "A great multitude that no man can number" shall be saved.

Mr. Camping's work remains viable today because this crucial milestone helps us know for certain when the second part of The Great Tribulation began.

Critics ignore the "?" in the title and the fact that Mr. Camping was quite clear in his book that 2011 was an alternative year for the end of the world.

Through the efforts of thousands of critical listeners, all doubt has been removed regarding the faithfulness of Harold Camping's study of "God's Time line of History"

Using The Bible's definition of "Prophet" as one who brings the truth of God's word then Harold Camping and those who have validated his work are the real deal.

CHRIST DID KNOW?

Mark 13:32 But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the son, but the Father. Notice that Mark 13:32 does not say "Christ" does not know. It is easily proved that the language "the son" cannot be pointing to Christ as follows:

The original Greek did not use capital letters in the word "son".

1Cor2: The Spirit of God knows all things.

Col 2:9 For in him [Christ] dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily.

To say "Christ does not know all things" is to say Christ did not have the Spirit of God in him. This is blasphemy against the Holy Spirit. Who else could "the son" be pointing to? Satan is called "The son of perdition" "The angels in heaven" is pointing to "The fallen angels" which were cast out heaven when Christ went to the cross. Rev 12

A multitude of faithful Bible students, that no man can number, agree:

The end of this world, beginning on MAY 21 2011, is established by God's Word The Holy Bible and God will shortly bring it to pass.

A MESSAGE OF HOPE:

The date of judgment has been set by God, is declared in "The Holy Bible" and is being understood by a great multitude that no man can number. Our heartfelt prayer is that all readers take earnest heed of this warning and "Cry out to God for mercy" while you "Search" for truth on your own. # ‘Great Firewall’ designer pelted

Egg and shoes thrown at Chinese online censor

Chinese police were seeking the man who allegedly threw an egg and shoes yesterday at the computer scientist famous for designing China’s Great Firewall of web controls.

The attack — if true — is a particularly bold one for China and underscores how strongly people feel about the country’s strict Internet censorship.

A Twitter user posting under the name “hanunyi” claimed that one of the shoes struck computer expert Fang Binxing while he was visiting Wuhan University in Hubei province. Fang, president of Beijing University of Posts and Telecommunications, is popularly known as the “father of the Great Firewall” and is reviled by many Chinese web users.

Fang reviled

Fang Binxing has felt the ire of the online community before. When he launched his microblog in December, it was taken down within hours after anonymous posters peppered it with hundreds of caustic or sarcastic comments.

An officer at the Luojiashan Public Security Bureau confirmed police were sent to the university to investigate a shoe-throwing incident that targeted Fang. The officer, who refused to give his name, said Fang was on his way to the airport.

Hanunyi posted a live account of the alleged shoe toss on his Twitter page, including photos of the door to the lecture hall where it happened, a hand clutching an egg in preparation and bare feet after he fled.

He described running away from the scene and three hours later expressed surprise at the huge online response.

Chinese Web filters routinely block searches for content that authorities deem too politically sensitive, such as the banned spiritual group Falun Gong or jailed Nobel laureate Liu Xiaobo.

Wage-gap wisdom?

Study suggests women's low expectations may cause inequality

Female university grads looking for their first jobs expect to earn less than men, and those lower expectations may be the reason the actual wage gap persists, a new study says.

"Women know they currently aren't earning as much as men, so they enter the workforce with that expectation," said Sean Lyons, a University of Guelph researcher who helped conduct the study.

"Because they don't expect to earn as much, they likely aren't as aggressive when it comes to negotiating salaries or pay raises and will accept lower-paying jobs than men, which perpetuates the existing inequalities."

When asked to estimate their starting salaries, female students entering the work world predicted their paycheques would be 14 per cent lower than the wages men said they expected to pull.

The gap widened over the course of their anticipated careers, with women expecting to make 18 per cent less than men after five years. And it was most pronounced in male-dominated fields such as science and engineering.

Print editions an old story? E-books outsell on Amazon

Kindle now cheaper than ever and shows ads in standby mode Print sales surpassed in just four years

Amazon.com says it's selling more electronic books than printed books, less than four years after it started selling e-books.

Since April 1, Amazon.com Inc. says it has sold 105 e-books for every 100 printed books, including printed books for which there is no electronic edition.

The comparison excludes free e-books.

Printed books include both hardcover and paperback books. Amazon said in July that e-book sales had outstripped hardcover sales.

Amazon also says the latest and cheapest version of its Kindle e-book reading device is the bestseller of the line, five weeks after it was introduced. It costs $114, and shows ads in standby mode.

Air Canada pilots' agreement grounded

Air Canada pilots have voted to reject a tentative agreement negotiated between their union and Canada's largest airline, which says it will carry on business as usual.

The union will return to the bargaining table to address the concerns of the pilots, said association president Paul Strachan.

"ACPA has some internal work to do, consulting with its members and preparing for the next round of bargaining," Strachan said.

High prices mere nuisance for U.S. rich: Report

Rising gas prices are driving a wider wedge between the wealthy and everybody else in the United States.

The rich are back to pre-recession-style splurging: Saks Fifth Avenue and Nordstrom customers are treating themselves to luxury items like $5,000 Hermès handbags and $700 Jimmy Choo shoes, and they're paying full price.

At Target and Walmart, shoppers are concentrating on groceries and skipping even little luxuries. BJ's Wholesale Corp. said Wednesday that its customers are buying more hamburger and chicken and less steak, and smaller packs to save money.

"The average shopper isn't in the game, except for necessities," said Faith Hope Consolo, chairman of retail leasing and marketing at Prudential Douglas Elliman. At the same time, among the rich, "Luxury products are selling like bread."

J.C. Penney, Wal-Mart and home improvement retailer Lowe's Cos. all said they're noticing their customers are consolidating shopping trips to save money on gas as the average price hovers near $4 a gallon.

More than a half-dozen corporate earnings reports this week show that for the affluent, rising prices are merely a nuisance. For others, they can mean scrimping to put food on the table.

Madoff relative to cover confession in new book

Bernard Madoff's daughter-in-law has a deal for an "intimate and heartbreaking" memoir.

Blue Rider Press, an imprint of Penguin Group (USA) announced Thursday that Stephanie Madoff-Mack will have a memoir coming out in December that will go "behind closed doors" as Madoff confesses to his family in December 2008 about his multibillion-dollar Ponzi scheme.

Madoff, 73, is serving a 150-year prison sentence in North Carolina, after admitting that his investment advisory service was a giant pyramid scheme.

Mark Madoff, Bernard Madoff's son and Madoff-Mack's husband, killed himself in December 2010.

German insurer admits to rewarding with orgy

A German insurance company says it organized an orgy with prostitutes in a renowned Hungarian spa to reward its best salesmen.

A spokesman for Ergo insurance said Thursday one of its subsidiaries had organized the party in Budapest's art nouveau Gellért Baths in a clear violation of the company's values.

Alexander Becker said about 100 of the company's best salesmen had been invited to the orgy, which featured numerous scantily clad hostesses and about 20 prostitutes.

He added those responsible for the June 2007 trip have left the company.

Prostitution is legal in Hungary and Germany.

THE METRO LIST

METRO

1 End days. According to Harold Camping, the head of the Christian radio network Family Stations Inc., the world will end Saturday. Apparently, an earthquake will shake the Earth and the true believers will be swept up to heaven, while the rest of us are left behind to bear witness to the destruction of all human life. From Camping: "We know without any shadow of a doubt it is going to happen."

Uh, OK?

2 Freedom of expression. Tyler, the Creator, the frontman for Odd Future and one of hip hop's weirdest up-and-comers, recently received the ire of one-half of Tegan and Sara for his misogynistic and homophobic lyrical content. The conversation took to the Twitterverse and somehow the issue morphed into a discourse on free speech. This, of course, isn't a free speech issue — it's an idiot-with-a-platform issue.

"Apparently, an earthquake will shake the Earth and the true believers will be swept up to heaven, while the rest of us are left behind to bear witness to the destruction ..."

3 Librarians. The profession is under threat in Ontario and elsewhere. In a world where e-books are booming and cellphones provide instant access to more information than anybody could ever need, an old-time curator of ink-and-paper products seems both obsolete and irrelevant. But librarians are still a wonderful resource. A library reconceived for the information economy could be more valuable than ever, and a librarian calibrated to meet today's information challenges could be its greatest asset.

4 The Biebs. This week Forbes announced that Justin Bieber, the boy wonder from Stratford, Ont., is officially the third most influential celebrity in the world. He has made teen girls swoon, sold out a world tour and starred in a top-grossing film, not to mention selling his footwear and hair on eBay for $5,500 and $40,558, respectively. Apparently, that's the stuff influence is made of. Speaking of the Apocalypse …

5 James Frey. The famous author (and noted liar) is on tour in Canada to promote his new book, The Final Testament Of The Holy Bible. On Wednesday, he was in Toronto to discuss the work with Indigo "chief book lover" Heather Reisman, which will surely be a boon for sales. In today's world, liars remain unpunished — instead, they seem to be roundly rewarded.

6 The Gos. It looks like Canadian kid Ryan Gosling is going to try his hand at directing. Word is The Notebook heartthrob will star in his own directorial debut, a remake of the 1980s musical The Idolmaker. Bieber may be Canada's most influential celebrity icon, but the Gos is the Canadian Renaissance man. He acts, he produces, he sings and now he is going to direct. Also, like Ferris Bueller, he seems to be a righteous dude.

WHITE ROCK, B.C. Prime Minister Stephen Harper's latest Senate appointments must be called into question. Senators are to be a check on the prime minister, his cabinet and his House of Commons majority. They have the responsibility of providing "sober second thought" from their appointed positions. Appointing defeated candidates to the Senate cannot be considered otherwise than directly conflicting with this responsibility.

Have Harper's purely partisan personal appointees committed to voting as he pleases? Is that not vote buying? Is Harper not again in contempt of Parliament in making such appointments?

Neither abolishing nor electing senators serves the purpose that the chamber was meant to serve when Canada came into being. A process that will enable the Senate to play its designated role that Harper has completely destroyed is to have senators appointed by the Governor General upon the recommendation of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada.

The highest court in Oregon unanimously ruled Thursday that retired bus driver Cynthia Willis can have her medical marijuana and a concealed handgun, too.

The ruling issued in Salem, Ore., upheld previous decisions by the Oregon Court of Appeals and circuit court in finding that a federal law barring criminals and drug addicts from buying firearms does not excuse sheriffs from issuing concealed weapons permits to people who hold medical marijuana cards and otherwise qualify.

"We hold that the Federal Gun Control Act does not pre-empt the state's concealed handgun licensing statute and, therefore, the sheriffs must issue (or renew) the requested licences," Chief Justice Paul De Muniz wrote.

Willis welcomed the ruling.

"I feel like a big girl now," she said. "I feel like a real human being now, not just a source of revenue to the county."

Oregon became one of the first states in the U.S. to authorize people to use marijuana to treat medical conditions when voters approved an initiative in 1998.

Academy Award-nominated actress Rosie Perez is suing the producers of television's Law & Order: Special Victims Unit, alleging she was injured during the filming of a 2009 episode in New York City.

Perez says in the lawsuit filed Wednesday that she was "recklessly pulled, grabbed, yanked, wrenched and/or manhandled" during filming of the Hardwired episode on Sept. 9, 2009.

Her attorney, Brian O'Dwyer, tells the New York Daily News that his client is suffering severe pain and has numbness in her arms. He says she has been out of work for about a year.

RICHARD CROUSE & MARK BRESLIN

Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides Mermaids are great, but not much else to write home about

Richard Crouse: Mark, my main question after watching the new Pirates movie is, If this was the first one of the series would we have had a two, three and four? I don't think so. It's a big splashy epic, but lacks the fun and Johnny's joie de vivre of the original. What say you, matey?

Mark Breslin: Richard, I wasn't even a fan of the original. And no franchise should exceed a trilogy unless the words "godfather" or "cheerleaders" are in the title. An appreciation of this movie is contingent upon how you feel about Johnny Depp and how much swordplay you can handle. I adore Depp's brilliant characterization in the series, but really, the tricks are starting to show their age. And I didn't like swashbuckling even when Douglas Fairbanks did it in 1932. Still, I thought this edition of Pirates was the best since the original, whatever that means.

Plot synopsis

- At the behest of King George, Barbossa (Geoffrey Rush), a one-time pirate now turned privateer, is searching for the fabled Fountain of Youth. His job is to claim it for England before the Spanish armada gets there. Meanwhile, Captain Jack Sparrow (Depp) is shanghaied to work on board a ship run by the evil Blackbeard (Ian McShane) and Jack's old flame Angelica (Penelope Cruz). They're after the fountain too, but first must fight off manhungry mermaids.
- Ratings:
  Richard: ◍½
  Mark: ◍◍

RC: I don't think this one has the spark of the others. It's not as funny, Depp seems like he's gone back to the Captain Jack treasure chest one too many times and the action scenes, despite the 3-D, don't fly off the screen the way they have in the past. I liked the mermaids and think their attack sequence is the most exciting thing in the movie, but I may be wrong simply because the movie is so dark I may have missed something.

MB: Oh, those mermaids! Who knew they spoke in a Scandinavian accent? Yes, they are the most exciting thing in the movie, although I did enjoy Ian MacShane's villainy. But despite the fountain of youth plot device, these Pirates are getting old. And you're right about how dark the film is: I was straining to make out which pirate was which. Quick clue: Depp is the Pirate Who's Had A Bit Of Work Done.

RC: Ha! Perhaps playing the same character four times in eight years is too much for Depp, or perhaps the limitations of Captain Jack are becoming apparent but he's not as entertaining as before. Not that director Rob Marshall helps him. The action sequences are as well choreographed as you might expect from the man who made Chicago and Nine, but they are also as exciting as you would expect from a man who specializes in making musicals.

MB: I see what you're getting at. For the next instalment, make it a musical complete with a chorus line of mermaids!

▶ Bradley Cooper stars in The Hangover, Part II, which opens in theatres next Friday.

Cooper loves his wolfpack

Hangover star says bond with co-stars is the secret ingredient for movie's success Sequel gets darker

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Although the antics are amped up in The Hangover: Part II, star Bradley Cooper admits shooting the anticipated comedy was at least easier than the first.

"There's a certain amount of ease in knowing the character — having all this history," said Cooper recently in Toronto. "There was a lot less preparation because the preparation was already (in doing) a movie. That's a hell of a lot of rehearsal time to have another movie under your belt."

With the 2009 surprise hit earning a stunning $467 million US worldwide, there will be a lot of eyes on Part II and the comedy's unfolding plot about a bachelor party gone wrong. This time, Cooper and company travel to Bangkok, Thailand and have to uncover the events that led to a face tattoo, the disappearance of the bride's 16-year-old brother and a mysterious drug-dealing monkey.

Monkey

Bradley Cooper on working with Crystal the monkey.

▶ "The monkey is on Phil's shoulder most of the movie and there's one scene in Bangkok where an elephant is in the background. Do not have a monkey and an elephant walk down the same street in Bangkok because she just dug herself into my shoulder."

"The stakes are so high in this movie. It gets darker and because of that the three of us have to go to places making it believable but you have to deal with these crazy circumstances," Cooper said.

He explained that the movie's secret is in the camaraderie with co-stars Zach Galifianakis and Ed Helms.

"It's the reason I would do seven of these movies … it was just really wonderful to see what would come out of that — things that weren't in the script," he said.

For The Hangover: Part II, the writing doesn't end on the page either as Cooper and company have been credited for bringing some of the biggest laughs while improvising during the shoot.

"Comedy has to happen fast," insisted Cooper. "It's like music and especially when the three of us are working, it's nice — you really get in the groove, everybody's in the right gear and it just starts flowing."

Kung Fu Panda 2 a 'passion project'

Sequel gets a new director who was excited to step up to the plate Crew watched kung fu movies in down time

PHIL BROWN

For anyone with a place in their hearts for kung fu movies and absurdly cute CGI animals, the release of Kung Fu Panda 2 is cause for giddy excitement. The first film was a critical success that also cleaned up at the box office in 2008 and Dreamworks Animation began work on the sequel shortly after it opened in theatres.

Jennifer Yuh Nelson was key member of the creative/design team on the original Kung Fu Panda and was promoted to director for this second outing.

Speaking to Metro, the filmmaker said she was thrilled to return. "I was always ready to keep going regardless of whether I was the director or not and a lot of the same group stayed on because everyone loved the first movie so much. It was always a passion project for everyone involved and that continued on the sequel."

Creating a CGI animated film on this scale was a huge undertaking for the director, who worked on the project for three years before it was complete.

"We didn't start seeing finish animated sequences until about a year and a half out," admitted Nelson. "It trickles in a little at a time and it's always a shock when you're working with rough black and white storyboards that you're used to and then all of a sudden you see the same scenes in gorgeous colour animation. It's a big jolt for the crew, because you suddenly realize what the final film will look like."

Kung Fu Panda 2 opens in theatres next Friday.

To help break up the tedium during the long production, Nelson said the crew would hold "kung fu movie lunches," watching an endless list of classic titles in the genre to inspire the vast team of animators.

"We'd watch everything from Drunken Master to Kung Fu Hustle," said the director. "That's one of the reasons why these movies aren't parodies. They are a homage to movies that we all really love."

Glover is not the first comedian to make the jump to musician Metro looks at those who have done it

▶ Donald Glover is making the crossover from comedian to musician.

In the early days of film and television, variety was king. Elvis had starring roles, the Rat Pack all sang in their movies and while Jackie Gleason had one of the highest-rated shows on TV as a bus driver with a comically short fuse, he was also releasing albums of romantic mood music.

But as the modern entertainment industry evolved, the public gradually became less accepting of stars who established themselves in one medium, then tried to succeed in another.

But now that reality television is the norm, the world might be more accepting of a comic actor who turns to music, like Donald Glover.

As Troy, the naive and excitable former jock on NBC's Community, he is hilarious, and as a rapper leading Childish Gambino, Glover is more than proficient, rocking a shockingly different persona than viewers may have thought they knew. Here are a few others who crossed over.

Steve Martin

Martin always put goofy songs on his comedy albums but his 2009 album, The Crow: New Songs for the 5-String Banjo, proved he could gracefully transition into a medium that requires players to be well-versed in its tradition. It also helps when Earl Scruggs guests.

Eddie Murphy

After tucking funny songs between comedy tracks on his albums, Murphy decided to take music seriously.

His Rick James-produced anthem, Party All the Time, went to No. 2 on the charts in 1985. Most of his follow-up singing work was met with less enthusiasm. Whatzupwitu, a 1993 duet with Michael Jackson, made listeners wonder the same about Murphy.

Adam Sandler

Sandler mastered the funny-guy-with-the-guitar thing on Saturday Night Live, and some of the songs on his first two comedy albums were absurd enough to make your stomach hurt.

But 1997's What's Your Name? is all songs, and though the musicianship is impressive, the lyrics fly somewhere between funny and sincere, and it falls flat.

THE BEST TIME OF THE YEAR

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE

GARETH CATTERMOLE/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Eddie Vedder's new album, Ukulele Songs, is out May 31.

Today is one of my favourite days of the entire year: the Friday leading into the first summer long weekend.

After a cold winter and a cool, and for many, disastrously wet spring, Canadians are possessed by hopeful optimism about what the next four months will bring.

This means it's also time to load up on some new music.

Ben Harper/Give Till It's Gone (out now): Most of Ben's best records have been released in either the spring or summer, making them great soundtracks for heading camping or laying out on the beach.

His10th studio album, which again features his band, The Relentless 7-fits, that bill. And yes, that's Jackson Browne making a guest appearance.

Moby/Destroyed (out now): Electronica's favourite bald vegan returns with an album written mostly in hotel rooms in the middle of the night.

A chronic insomniac, Moby captures both the peace and loneliness one feels at 3 in the morning in a strange city.

Listening to this album in the daytime doesn't feel quite right, but in the middle of the night, it makes all the sense in the world.

Eddie Vedder/Ukulele Songs (out May 31): When you're one of the most famous singers in the world, you can do whatever you want, including recording a solo album where you play the ukulele.

Rumour has it that Eddie originally planned this project as gift to friends and family, but it turned out so well that it's getting a proper release.

Haunting yet very, very pretty.

Expressing individuality

Live loud and prosper: Gaga sets example with her unique individuality

PAT HEALY
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Rock 'n' roll and its subgenres have always had an outcast component. Because many of the people making this type of music were misfits growing up, they have occasionally found inspiration in singing about their outsider status.

But where The Who sang, "hope I die before I get old," in their 1965 song, My Generation, singers these days are using a more encouraging tone. Lady Gaga puts her personality on parade by saying that she was Born This Way, and Ke$ha lets her freak flag fly by singing We R Who We R.

Uniqueness

- A few of the other songs about being different in all the right ways:
- Rebel Rebel by David Bowie (1974); Written by David Bowie. Sample lyric: "You've got your mother in a whirl/ She's not sure if you're a boy or a girl/Hey babe, your hair's alright"
- The Greatest Love of All by Whitney Houston (1985); Written by: Michael Masser and Linda Creed. Sample lyric: "If I fail, if I succeed/At least I live as I believe/No matter what they take from me/They can't take away my dignity"
- Beautiful by Christina Aguilera (2002); Written by: Linda Perry. Sample lyric: "We are beautiful no matter what they say/Words won't bring us down"

METRO

Pink is currently telling her listeners, "don't you ever, ever feel like you're less than f—in' perfect" while Katy Perry tells hers that they "don't have to feel like a wasted space" in Firework.

But why are all these women singing so many anthems of individuality all of a sudden? Ke$ha says she thinks it's about awareness.

"I wrote We R Who We R because I read about a bunch of teenage boys who killed themselves because they were bullied at school for being 'different,'" she says. "I also wasn't like everyone else in school and was a bit misunderstood. As I've gotten older, I'm happy I wasn't like everyone else. And I wanted these kids to have an anthem that expressed that."

Gaga told Metro that she's seen how the message of Born This Way has moved her younger fans, and when she's talking about their generation it seems to resonate more.

"The new generation is very affected by the lack of equality," she says. "I noticed I had 12- and 13-year-old kids at my shows saying, 'I felt like I didn't belong and couldn't be myself with my family and now there's Born This Way and I have a very easy answer to a very difficult question in my life.'"

HANDOUT

▶ Judah Friedlander is currently on his World Champion standup tour.

Is it time for fans to start worrying about 30 Rock?

Actor Judah Friedlander doesn't think the popular show is done yet

Judah Friedlander says the recent postponement of Season 6 of 30 Rock isn't anything to worry about.

The actor, who plays trucker hat-loving Frank Rossitano on the acclaimed TV comedy series, says NBC was sincere earlier this week when it cited Tina Fey's pregnancy as the reason it's pushing the Season 6 debut to next January.

"Here's what's going on, to my knowledge: Tina Fey is pregnant, not by (co-star) Tracy Morgan and not by me, as far as I can remember," Friedlander, 42, wisecracked in a recent phone interview to promote his standup show at Toronto's Second City on Thursday.

"Now, the thing is, Tina Fey is having a baby soon and I believe she's having the baby around the time we normally start filming for the new season, so our start time is actually being delayed some," he continued.

"We're going to start filming later than normal, so because of that our show has to air later than normal. So to my knowledge that's what that's all about."

Despite critical praise and a slew of awards, 30 Rock has failed to attract blockbuster ratings and its future has frequently been in doubt.

With star Alec Baldwin's contract set to expire in 2012, and with the recent Season 6 postponement, fans have recently been more concerned than usual. The Atlantic Wire also recently published an article questioning the future of the show, opening with the sentence: "Is it time to start worrying about 30 Rock?"

However, Friedlander is confident they'll be back.

"We are guaranteed for at least one more season and after that we don't know yet," he said.

During the 30 Rock hiatus, Friedlander will be busy with his World Champion standup tour.

The title for Friedlander's tour, as his fans well know, stems from his eccentric public persona as a standup comedian.

With a bushy beard and long locks, thick glasses, and T-shirts and trucker hats emblazoned with his World Champion slogan (sometimes in other languages and even in braille), the jokester boasts onstage and in interviews that he's an undefeated master of martial arts, among many other things.

Fans of Shania Twain will have to put down her recent memoir for long enough to take in the second episode of her new reality series, Why Not. In Friday's episode, the country-pop superstar from Timmins, Ont., visits Canadian cities that remind her of her early career. (OWN)

• A tempting smorgasbord of movies are on offer to anyone considering a Saturday evening on the couch. MuchMoreMusic is showing the beloved 2003 comedy Old School, W has the Jennifer Aniston-Vince Vaughn romcom The Break-Up, while action-oriented viewers will have a tough decision to make between the gritty James Bond flick Casino Royale (Showcase), Black Hawk Down (History) and Kill Bill Vol. 1 (Teletoon)

• Does the fact that The Simpsons has now lasted 22 full seasons make Sunday's finale any less special? Maybe, but classic rock fans will still be pleased to hear the voice of Aerosmith drummer Joey Kramer, who guests in an episode about Ned Flanders dating Edna Krabappel. That will be followed by the finale of Bob's Burgers and the one-hour Family Guy wrap, which completes the cartoon's trilogy of Star Wars spoofs. That is, unless the show's writers plan to move on to the hated prequels. (Fox)

Maria Shriver has reportedly hired top celebrity divorce lawyer Laura Wasser.

Wasser's past clients have included celebs such as Angelina Jolie, Christina Aguilera and Britney Spears, according to People magazine.

But that doesn't necessarily mean that her marriage to former California governor Arnold Schwarzenegger is all but done.

"Maria hasn't decided yet if she wants to end her marriage," a source says.

The source also added that Shriver hired Wasser before news of Schwarzenegger's affair and a love child with a former housekeeper, who worked for the couple for in their home for about 20 years, became public knowledge recently.

Beckham baby to be born in U.S.

David and Victoria Beckham have reportedly set the date to welcome their first daughter, planning the birth for July 4 in a private hospital in Los Angeles, according to the Sun.

The Beckhams, who already have three sons, were reportedly planning to welcome the girl at London's Portland Hospital.

"While the date hasn't changed, it was decided a Los Angeles clinic would be best for the immediate family," a source says.

"Victoria and David love America, its culture and her people, who have welcomed them with open arms. The most important thing is the health of mother and baby and things can always change at the last minute. But if it's possible for the baby to be born on Independence Day, Vic and David would be thrilled."

Kick off backyard barbecue season

This juicy Chipotle Barbecue Cheeseburger has condiments built right in Not only is it Victoria Day Weekend, it's National Hamburger Month

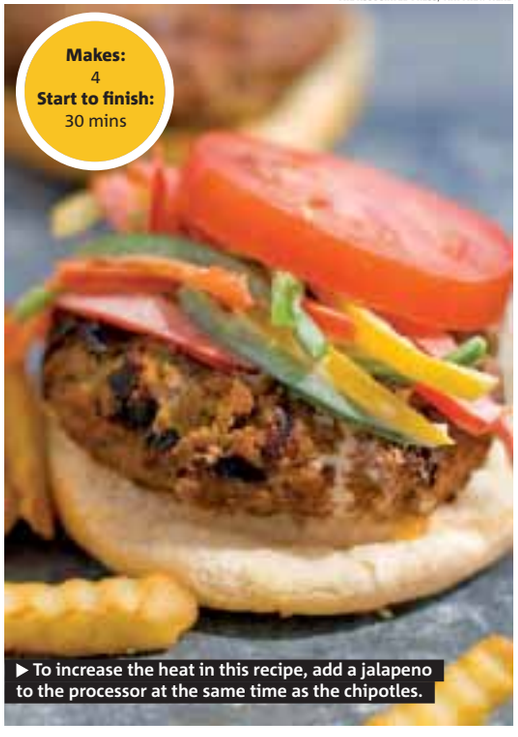
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS/ MATTHEW MEAD



▶ To increase the heat in this recipe, add a jalapeno to the processor at the same time as the chipotles.

No condiments are needed for this high-flavour barbecue-style cheeseburger; they are built right in.

For ease — and let's face it, awesome taste — I took your basic beef burger and mixed in puréed chipotles in adobo sauce, a healthy splash of barbecue sauce and some garlic. But why stop there? I also stuffed the burger with a mix of cheddar cheese and chopped black olives.

To round it out, I mixed a simple bell pepper slaw to form a creamy-crispy bed for the burger. You can keep it simple by substituting whichever prepared slaw you prefer.

Ingredients:

- 50 ml (1/4 cup) mayonnaise
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) mustard powder
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) honey
- 5 ml (1 tsp) cider vinegar
- 1 red bell pepper, cored and thinly sliced
- 1 green bell pepper, cored and thinly sliced
- 1 yellow bell pepper, cored and thinly sliced
- Salt and ground black pepper
- 2 chipotle peppers in adobo sauce
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) prepared barbecue sauce
- 2 cloves garlic
- 500 g (1 lb) 85 per cent lean ground beef
- 250 ml (1 cup) shredded cheddar cheese
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) finely chopped black olives
- 4 large potato buns, toasted
- 1 large tomato, thickly sliced

Preparation:

1. In bowl, whisk mayo, mustard powder, honey and vinegar. Add all 3 peppers, toss to coat. Season with salt and pepper, then set aside.
2. Heat a grill or grill pan to medium-high.
3. In food processor, combine chipotle peppers, barbecue sauce and garlic. Puree until smooth. Transfer to bowl. Add ground beef, 2 ml (1/2 tsp) salt and 1 ml (1/4 tsp) black pepper, mix.
4. Divide ground beef mixture into quarters. One at a time, form each quarter into a cup in the palm of your hand. Add 50 ml (1/4 cup) of the cheese and a sprinkling of the black olives to the centre of each cup, then push beef over it to completely cover cheese. Carefully form beef into a patty.
5. Coat grill grates with oil. Grill burgers for 8 minutes for medium-well or until desired doneness.
6. Top bottom half of each bun with some pepper slaw, then a burger, then a slice of tomato.

Match made in grill heaven

I'm a bit of a barbecue weenie. At my house, boy meets grill until mid-fall. Then I wheel my gas-fired girl into the garage until Victoria Day.

She's ready to make her 2011 debut this long weekend, and when it comes to picking a wine to match grilled meats, I look for juice that can hold its own against the intensity of the meat, the influence of the marinade and, since I'm a bit of a hamburger aficionado, any condiments I decide to lather on when meat hits bun.

Think young, jammy and red. It's not time to uncork that Bordeaux you've had since midway through the last century. Best bets are Californian zinfandel and merlot, Aussie shiraz, Chilean cabernet sauvignon, and for a taste of the Old World, a Barbera d'Asti from Italy's Piedmont region.

In Argentina, barbecue is a way of life and a red like Trapiche's 2010 Varietals Malbec ($9.00 - $11.99) — with dark, blueberry flavour, balanced tannins and spice trail — is a grill match made in Mendoza. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. # NHL's return a done deal? 'It's not true'

- League, True North play down reported sale of Atlanta Thrashers to Winnipeg group
- Globe and Mail reported that official announcement will be made on Tuesday

MORGAN MODJESKI FOR METRO

▶ Jets fan Gerry Sawatzky was one of the first people to show up at Portage and Main on Thursday night after reports that the NHL would be returning to Winnipeg.

"I've been a fan of the Jets since they left, I was just a kid then, putting my five dollars in a big glass jar trying to save the Jets, but my dreams were crushed."
GERRY SAWATZKY, JETS FAN

The NHL and True North Sports and Entertainment are disputing a report that a deal to bring the Atlanta Thrashers to Winnipeg is done.

Citing sources, The Globe and Mail reported Thursday evening that the announcement confirming the sale will be made Tuesday in Winnipeg.

"It's not true," True North spokesman Scott Brown said when asked about the report that a deal was done.

True North Sports and Entertainment owns and operates the Manitoba Moose of the American Hockey League and the MTS Centre arena, which would become the NHL team's new home.

The Globe report says the NHL board of governors has already approved the sale and transfer of the team, pending negotiation of a purchase agreement between Atlanta Spirit LLC, the Thrashers' owners, and True North.

As far as we know, there is nothing done," NHL deputy commissioner Bill Daly said in an email to The Canadian Press. "And certainly, the board has not approved anything.

A spokesperson for the City of Winnipeg also said that city officials had not heard anything has been confirmed.

A Thrashers fire sale may not be done, but there has been plenty of smoke in recent days.

One agent said Thrasher players have been quietly told to make new real estate plans.

And the Atlanta Journal-Constitution reported earlier this week that the Thrasher owners had begun negotiations on a sale that would relocate the team to Winnipeg.

Talk of a move has been such that Premier Greg Selinger has had to deal with questions about possible government support for an NHL team.

His stance is Manitoba taxpayers won't subsidize a franchise in Winnipeg but the province will consider everything else in its power to aid the return of the NHL.

The Jets moved from Winnipeg to Phoenix in 1996 because of financial problems, but the city has since built a new albeit modestly sized arena by NHL standards. And it has potential owners with deep pockets in True North, which is led by businessman Mark Chipman and billionaire David Thomson.

The Thrashers, who made their debut as an expansion franchise in 1999, have qualified for the postseason just once. That was in 2007, when Atlanta was swept in the first round by the New York Rangers.

The Thrashers looked promising for a while on the ice this season. Midway through the campaign, they were seventh in the Eastern Conference with a 20-15-6 record.

But the bottom fell out in late December and continued for two months. A 6-15-5 swoon from Dec. 21 to Feb. 23 all but sank any hope of stirring hockey interest in a team that plays before great swaths of empty seats.

Atlanta finished 12th in the East with a 34-36-12 record.

The team was 28th out of the 30-team league in attendance this season, averaging just 13,469.

Still supporters are planning a rally before the team's annual select-a-seat event for season-ticket holders at Philips Arena on Saturday.

Armstrong used drugs: Ex-teammate

CYCLING. A former teammate of Lance Armstrong has told 60 Minutes that he used performance-enhancing drugs with the seven-time Tour de France winner to cheat in cycling races, including the tour.

Tyler Hamilton says Armstrong took a blood-booster called EPO in the 1999 Tour and before the race in 2000 and 2001. Armstrong won the race every year from 1999-2005.

Armstrong has steadfastly denied doping and has never failed a drug test.
